With our step-by-step guide, it's easy to switch from Android to iPhone. We will tell you different methods to transfer data from old Android phone to new iPhone. The Transfer to iOS app is the easiest, but not the only option. Let's start! Things to do before transferring data from your old phone Before you start transferring from Android to iPhone: Make sure that the new device has enough space to store all the data from the old device. Connect both devices and make sure they work by reconnecting to a secure Wi-Fi network. Back up your Android phone to Google Drive. Opt out of RCS (Rich Communication Service) in Google Messages. How to back up data in Google Drive The advantage of Google services is that they work on both Android and iOS, so you can save your Google accounts when you move. With Google Drive, you can easily back up your call and SMS history, documents, photos and videos, settings, and app data such as contacts (Google Contacts app only). To sync your Chrome bookmarks to your new device, update the Chrome app on your old device. To back up your Android phone to Google Drive, go to Settings > Google > Backup (or search for Backup in Settings). Then select Back. How to unsubscribe from RCS Rich Communication Services (RCS) allows you to send encrypted messages, including text, video, photos, and GIFs. If your Android phone uses Google Messages for text messaging, you should disable RCS before changing your phone to avoid losing messages. Go to the Google Messages app on your Android device and do the following: Select More options. Select Settings. Select Chat Features Turn Chat Features On Try CyberGhost VPN Risk-Free How to Transfer Data to iPhone with Move to iOS Now that you've backed up your old phone, it's time to start moving files. The easiest way to do this is with the Move to iOS app. You can download the app on your Android phone from the Google Play store. Everything is workingSo you don't need any data cables. You can only use this transfer method before setting up your iPhone. If you have already completed the installation process, you will need to start over or transfer the files manually. With the Move to iOS app, you can transfer the following data: Contacts Calendar Messages History WhatsApp messages Photos (and photo albums) Videos Files (and folders) Some settings (such as accessibility and display) Your Google account Other email accounts Some free apps. Here are the steps to do the following: Steps: on both devices and connect them to a Wi-Fi network. On your Android phone, open the Play Store and download the Move to iOS app. Turn on your iPhone and select Move data from Android. Select Move data from Android. Open the Transfer to iOS app on your Android phone. Read and agree to the terms of use. Wait until the Move from Android screen appears on your iPhone, then select Continue. Wait for the one-time code to appear on your iPhone. Enter it on your Android phone. Enter the PIN shown on your iPhone in the Move to iOS app on Android. On your Android phone, select Connect to connect to a temporary Wi-Fi network. Choose what content to transfer from Android phone to iPhone and click "Next". Select the types of data you want to transfer to your new phone. Leave both devices alone until your iPhone indicates that the transfer is complete. Apple Support describes the process in this video: Be careful when transferring data over an online connection. Many cybercriminals are looking for personal information and can collect it using a variety of methods, such as man-in-the-middle attacks. Use CyberGhost VPN to encrypt your connection, especially on public Wi-Fi networks, to prevent attackers from stealing your files, data and media in transit. Protecting data during transfer How to manually transfer data to iPhone You can transfer data manually if you don't want or don't want to use the Transfer to iOS app whatever you want Transferring to PC manually Follow these steps to manually transfer music, photos, videos, and other files to your PC: Connect your Android phone to your PC. Import photos and videos from your Android phone to a new folder on your computer. Disconnect your Android phone and connect your iPhone to the computer. Open iTunes on your computer. Select the device button for your iPhone (top left corner). In the settings menu, select the content from a folder on your computer that you want to sync. on the left (Music, Photos, Files, etc.) Check the box next to each category you want to sync. Once you've selected everything you want to sync, click Apply or Sync in the bottom right corner. Manual transfer on a Mac Follow these steps to manually transfer files (photos, videos, music, etc.): Connect your Android phone to your Mac. Use the Android file transfer app to import the files into the new folder. Disconnect your Android phone and connect your iPhone to your Mac. Open Finder on your Mac (or iTunes on older versions of Mac OS) and select your iPhone. Configure the settings in Finder for each type of file you want to sync (music, books, photos, files, etc.). Check the box and select Apply for each category you want to sync. Other ways to transfer data Google Drive works on iOS, Android, Mac and PC, so you can easily access your documents, and other data across multiple devices. Just back up your files on your Android phone and then install the Google Drive app on your iPhone to access your files instantly. You can only transfer files, photos, videos, settings, and app data using Google Drive. You need to use a different method to transfer music and apps. Google Drive has an alternative we haven't mentioned. If you plan to use Apple products in the future, you can manually import files from Android to your computer and then upload them to iCloud. Then you just need to sync your iPhone with iCloud to access your files. You can also use a paid appTransfer your files - MobileTrans is one of the most popular. Just like the Move for iOS app, it helps you move WhatsApp files, documents, photos, and messages. In addition, you can use it to transfer music, ringtones and voice memos. Use them to weigh the benefits of paying for a single-use app against the potential convenience it offers. What do you lose when transferring? The downside to switching to a new operating system is that you can't transfer everything. Some items will be lost, including: Purchased apps Free apps that don't have an equivalent in the iOS App Store In-app purchases Availability and display settings Messages in some messaging apps Can I transfer apps? Yes, with some serious limitations. The Move to iOS app can move some free apps available for both Android and iOS. Unfortunately, you can't automatically transfer paid apps. For paid apps and apps that don't transfer, you'll need to go to the App Store on your iPhone and check if the app in question exists on iOS. If you can't find an exact match, you can often find an equivalent app. Try a Google search for "equivalent to [app name]" for iOS. What to do with Android phone after data migration Many Apple stores recycle Android device after switching to iPhone. It's a good idea to delete data before moving it. Just go to Settings > General > Reset > Erase All Content and Settings. This action cannot be undone, so please back up your data to Google Drive first! Need a VPN on your iPhone? Yes! Apple devices are very secure, but it never hurts to take extra precautions. A VPN makes your phone's connection more secure, especially when you're on public Wi-Fi. Stay safe on public Wi-Fi networks Public Wi-Fi networks are very convenient when you're away from home. Unfortunately, Wi-Fi networks in airports, train stations and shopping malls are usually not secure - even Apple devices are vulnerable to these networks. cybercriminalsUse these insecure networks to steal user data. Use a fully encrypted VPN to avoid snooping on these networks. Turn on automatic Wi-Fi protection in the CyberGhost app to protect your iPhone on any public Wi-Fi network. Set and forget! Keep your identity private Everyone, from cybercriminals to marketing companies, wants to know your details. Apple acknowledged this and included features that restrict tracking as well as additional security features. However, don't rely on Apple to prevent identity theft. CyberGhost's state-of-the-art encryption protects your data so no one can read it. Our strict no-logging policy ensures that we don't track any of your online activities. For complete anonymity on the Internet, use CyberGhost VPN on your iPhone. Use it on all your devices CyberGhost VPN isn't just for iOS and Android. We also have apps for Windows, Mac, Linux and more. Each CyberGhost subscription supports up to 7 simultaneous connections, so you can protect your phone, laptop and other devices at the same time! What's more, 7 connections means your family can also enjoy the benefits of a secure VPN. Congratulations! You've made a change! Now that you have an Apple device, you'll soon find out why people love the iPhone and other Apple products so much. While you're loading up your new device with all your favorite apps, download CyberGhost VPN to stay safe online. FAQ Can I transfer data from Android to iPhone after setup? Yes, but the Move to iOS app only works during phone setup. If you have already set up your device, you will need to transfer your data manually or use a paid app. You can also erase everything from your iPhone and start over.
